

SUDAMI X-RING PRECISION F CLASS BIPOD FTR

The Sudami F-Tr Bipod

The Sudami F Class Bipod (F-TR) has been developed over the past few years in regional and international competitions. Today it comprises of all the advantages a shooter should have. Rigid designed to withstand the recoil and torque of the rifle when shooting. Over all made of aluminum and acetyl. The bipod fits to the rifle by means of Anschutz type of rail. A Positive Locking lever is fitted to prevent canting of the rifle. The hanger bracket is designed to make adjusting easy for the shooter and to give a stable platform to shoot from. The height adjustment spokes makes it easy to adjust up and down. It is made for left and right hand shooters. Total weight of the bipod = 485grams. The bipod has been tested on the range from 100m to 1000m and in the field up to 1500m. The bipod can be used for competition shooting on the ranges as well as long range shooting gongs and hunting.
